Two Middleton Officers Cleared of Allegations of Criminal Conduct

Two Middleton Police Department officers were accused by a city resident of conduct that violated state criminal laws. To avoid conflicts of interest, the Idaho State Police Department conducted an investigation and the Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney's Office reviewed the investigative report. The prosecuting attorney determined there is no probable cause to charge either of the officers with breaking the law. Some conduct was contrary to the city's employment policies and the officers resigned today. The attorney for the family involved notified the city that the family may sue the city, and the city cannot comment on that pending claim/litigation.
